

Side by Side Dedicates J. Patrick Hunt Campus in San Anselmo

SAN ANSELMO, Calif. – On August 28, 2026, Side by Side hosted a special campus dedication ceremony to officially rename its San Anselmo campus the J. Patrick Hunt Campus, honoring the lasting legacy and contributions of J. Patrick Hunt, co-founder of Bank of Marin. (The Irene M. Hunt School's name remains unchanged.)

Approximately 40 guests attended the dedication, including local elected officials Steve Burdo, Mayor of San Anselmo and a Side by Side Board member, and Julie McMillan, Mayor of Ross.

Side by Side CEO Christine Garcia delivered remarks during the ceremony, reflecting on the significance of the campus and the impact of J. Patrick Hunt's commitment to supporting children, youth, and families.

The event was made even more meaningful by the presence of Mr. Hunt's family, including his daughter, Catherine Hunt; his son and daughter-in-law, Joe and Cara Hunt; and his grandchildren, Joey and Amanda Hunt. The Hunt family also received a tour of the Irene M. Hunt School.

The dedication marks an important milestone in Side by Side's history, ensuring that J. Patrick Hunt's legacy will continue to inspire future generations who access services and support on the campus.

The ceremony concluded with a campus gathering and opportunities for guests to reflect on the organization's 130-year history and its future.
